SECTION 1 Questions 1–14

Read the text below and answer Questions 1–8.

Consumer advice on buying shoes

If you have a problem with shoes you've recently bought, follow this four-step plan.

Step 1

Go back to the shop with proof of purchase. If you return faulty shoes at once, you have a right to insist on a refund. It is also likely that you will get one if you change your mind about the shoes and take them back immediately. But, if you delay or you've had some use out of the shoes, the shop may not give you all your money back. It depends on the state of the shoes and how long you've had them.

If you are offered a credit note, you don't have to accept it. If you accept it, you will usually not be able to exchange it for cash later on. So, you may be left with an unwanted credit note, if you cannot find any other shoes you want from the shop.

The shop may want to send the shoes back to head office for inspection. This is fair and could help to sort things out. But don't be put off by the shop which claims that it's the manufacturer's responsibility. This isn't true. It's the shop's legal duty to put things right.

Step 2

If you don't seem to be getting anywhere, you can get help. Free advice is available from a Citizens Advice Bureau (get the address from your telephone book), or from a local Trading Standards Department. Again, consult the telephone directory under County, Regional or Borough Council. All these departments have people who can advise you about faulty goods and what to do with them.

Step 3

Most shops are covered by the Footwear Code of Practice. If the shop you are dealing with is covered, you can ask for the shoes to be sent to the Footwear Testing Centre for an independent opinion. The shop has to agree with whatever the resulting report says. There is a charge of £21. You pay £7 and the shop pays the rest (including postage).

Step 4

As a last resort, you can take your case to court. This is not as difficult as it sounds. The small claims procedure for amounts up to £1000 (£750 in Scotland) is a cheap, easy and informal way of taking legal action.

The relevant forms are available from your nearest County Court or, in Scotland, the Sheriff Court. You can get advice and leaflets from the Citizens Advice Bureau. Alternatively, some bookshops sell advice packs which contain the relevant forms.

TEST 1

SECTION 1

NINA: Hi, George! Glad you're back. Loads of people have phoned you.

GEORGE: Really?

NINA: I felt just like your secretary!

GEORGE: Sorry! I went into the library this afternoon to have a look at a newspaper and I came across something really interesting.

NINA: What? A book?

GEORGE: No, a brochure from a summer festival – mainly Spanish music. Look, I've got it here. Example

NINA: Spanish music? I really love the guitar. Let's have a look. So what's this group 'Guitarrini'?

GEORGE: They're really good. They had a video with all the highlights of the festival at a stand in the lobby to the library, so I heard them. They play fantastic instruments – drums and flutes and old kinds of guitars. I've never heard anything like it before. Q1

NINA: Sounds great.

GEORGE: Okay. Shall we go then? Spoil ourselves?

NINA: Yes, let's.

GEORGE: The only problem is there aren't any cheap seats . . . it's all one price.

NINA: Well, in that case we could sit right at the front – we'd have a really good view.

GEORGE: Yeah, though I think that if you sit at the back you can actually hear the whole thing better. Q2

NINA: Yes. Anyway we can decide when we get there.

NINA: So will you fill in the form or shall I?

GEORGE: I'll do it. Name: George O'Neill. Address: 48 North Avenue, Westsea. Do you remember our new postcode? Still can't remember it. Q3

NINA: Just a minute – I've got it written down here. WS6 2YH. Do you need the phone too? Q4

GEORGE: Please. I'm really bad at numbers.

NINA: 01674 553242. So, let's book two tickets for Guitarrini. Q5

GEORGE: Okay. If you're sure £7.50 each is all right. How do you feel about the singer?

NINA: I haven't quite decided. But I've noticed something on the booking form that might just persuade me!

GEORGE: What's that then?

NINA: Free refreshments!

GEORGE: Really?
